

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a device (1) for preparing an electrochemical sensor (2) enabling the sensor head (2a) thereof to be provided with an electrolyte (3) and a membrane (4).

The inventive device comprises retaining means (6) for the sensor in addition to means for depositing the electrolyte (7) and means for depositing the membrane (8).